Vote for the best Men.

The desperate efforts of Old Liners to in duce the faithful to vote the "straight ticket," will be unavailing. Many who vote for Wil lard will vote for Ingle. The time when two or three party leaders can mark the tickets of a whole township, has gone by. Unfortunately for the success of Old Line candidates, the People will judge of the relative merits of the candidates, and they will vote for the best men. Of the success of Moston, we have not a doubt. The only question is, what shall be his majority? Willard may carry this district by a small majority, and perhaps the second, but we can see no possible chance for him in the other Congressional Districts. Never before was the opposition to Democracy so powerful as now. Never did the Old Line party present a ticket so repugnant to the masses as the one nominated in January. How any man can vote for Willard, who has seen Judge Morton, we cannot imagine. The votes cast for Willard will be confined to that wing of the Democratic party, who vote for the nominees of their conventions, though the the Society for their untiring energy in caternominees as are unfitted for offices of trust as Willard and Hammond. We envy no man, and thus aid in doing something for our city who goes to the ballot box to vote for men he knows are disqualified, simply because the wire-workers of his party have placed those men in nomination. The fact that Wright and Bright are endeavoring to sacrifice Willard to advance their own corrupt designs, is an evidence of the way things are managed in the Old Line party. Everything must be done ab lity is a sufficient guarantee that the adto secure office; beyond that, they have not a dress will be a good one. thought or care. In the name of the Constitation, they seek to advance their own personal interests. They talk loudly of the people, and use them as a stepping stone to power. In his speech on last Tuesday, whether yielding to the force of ad imperious habit, or presuming largely upon the gullibility of the masses, (he best knows.) he found, as usual, that gross misrepresesentation answered his purpose better than familiar truths. He made a wilful misstatement when he declared that the Old Whig party were with him on the policy promulged by the Ostend Conference, and in this as well as all the other doctrines engrafted by the Cincinnati resolutions, he committed himself as an extremist. He bowed mournfully over the grave of the lamented Henry Clay, and called upon his shade to bear him out in his declaration of unanimity, well knowing that the ghost of that illustrious man would be as dumb to his call as was his own voice when interrogated by Mr. Veatch, as to the speech on last Tuesday, whether yielding to when interrogated by Mr. Veatch, as to the right of the people of a territory to exclude slavery before the adoption of a constitution for a State government.
